

Dr. Roberto Manduchi

Associate Professor
Computer Engineering
UC Santa Cruz

Roberto Manduchi obtained his "Dottorato di Ricerca" in Electrical Engineering from the University of Padova, Italy, in 1993. After a few years roaming around Northern and Southern California in various postdoctoral positions, he landed a job at Apple in the Interactive Media Group. From 1998 to 2001 he was with the Machine Vision Group at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory. In 2001 he joined the faculty at the University of California, Santa Cruz, where he is currently an Associate Professor of Computer Engineering. Roberto's main research interest is in the application of computer vision and sensor processing to assistive technology for people with visual impairment. His research is supported by the NSF and the NIH.

4PM, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18, 2012

Carlson Auditorium, Center for Imaging Science (Bldg. 76)